LiveSource™ is a cloud-based supplier management solution built for manufacturers in the automotive, aerospace & defense, complex manufacturing, and medical industries. It provides a single location for a manufacturer's complete upstream supply chain network data.

Where Collaboration Happens

With LiveSource, manufacturers gain greater visibility across their entire supplier network, so they can plan more effectively and be able to respond to changes quickly and effectively. LiveSource does this by collecting and normalizing data from disparate systems (such as ERP, sourcing, engineering, tooling, and quality systems) and providing an easy, seamless way to share data across disciplines.

LiveSource can be your one trusted system of record for all inbound supply chain activities.

Benefits:

Get the tools you need to: 1. Decrease supplier and manufacturing costs. 2. Collaborate more effectively with your suppliers. 3. Identify supply chain disruptions before they shut down your customers' assembly plants. 4. Identify supplier quality issues before they become a crisis. 5. Easily determine which suppliers are and are not supporting your business.

Reduce risk, improve collaboration with partners across your value chain, work closely with them to become more innovative, and boost productivity with LiveSource.
