LiveSource ▶ KNOW WHAT'S COMING.™

Take the Chaos Out Of Your Product Launch Process.

LiveSource is how manufacturers take hidden risks out of their product launch process. It shows you everything from your supplier's certification status to the impact of last-minute updates to the bill of materials — so you know what's coming.

THE PROBLEM: PRODUCT LAUNCH SURPRISES

It's about that one little thing in your product launch — the unread email, the little white lie from your supplier, the out-of-date spreadsheet — that can take down everything. With so much critical information buried in emails, spreadsheets, and disconnected systems, there's no way to know where the next surprise is coming from. How can you possibly stay on top of every single detail with this chaotic communication structure?

LiveSource: A Single Source of Truth

LiveSource is the first end-to-end product launch portal, managing supplier risk management, product launch and collaborative manufacturing. It ensures all departments and stakeholders are working with the latest, up-to-date information. Enterprise systems — PLM, QMS, and ERPs — only address a segment of the business processes of launch. They aren't designed to manage the comprehensive data required to fully manage the risks that exist throughout the process.

WHAT'S YOUR CHAOS?

LiveSource helps you see through the chaos, so you know what's coming. We help you stop these types of problems:

- Awarding business to subpar suppliers
- Absorbing cost increases
- Late APQP, PPAP and FAI
- Costs to rebuild incorrect tools
- Expediting costs
- Supplier quality defects
- Inventory shortage and excess inventory
- Late delivery
- Loss of current and future revenue

WHAT'S YOUR ROLE IN THE LAUNCH PROCESS?

LiveSource bridges the gaps between PLM and ERP systems. What does that mean to you? Click on your role to find out more.
